Producers

- Data.
- Raw data sources.
- Data entry/creation.
- Sensors & measurements.

Electric meters for a building, measuring usage at many nodes.

Primary
Consumers

- Data intake & storage.
- Data processing.

Energy management system, recording all measurements and all meters.

Secondary Consumers

- Data analysis & insights.
- Data driven action.

CMMS/EAM, generating work orders and inspections in response to abnormal measurements.

Tertiary Consumers

- Data reporting.
- Strategic informing & decision making.

BI dashboards showing trends and KPIs related to maintenance.

Apex Predators

- Long term data record.
- Data warehouse/lake.

Document repository for all historical records and data products.

Decomposers

- Migrations & upgrades.
- Refactoring & restructuring.
- Retrospectives & feedback loops.

Product lifecycle ends or is outcompeted, new product implemented.

What Is the Ivy League?

Surprisingly, the commencement of the Ivy League had nothing to do with academic excellence. The Ivy League is a collegiate athletic conference established in 1954 by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division 1.

Brown University, Columbia University, Cornell University, Dartmouth College, Harvard University, Princeton University, University of Pennsylvania, and Yale University are the eight Northeast schools that make up the Ivy League.

School	Ranking	Acceptance Rate
Princeton	#1	4.50%
Harvard	#3	3.45%
Yale	#5	4.50%
UPenn	#6	5.86%
Brown	#9	5.00%
Columbia	#12	3.99%
Cornell	#12	7.26%
Dartmouth	#18	3.98%

Ivy Plus Schools:

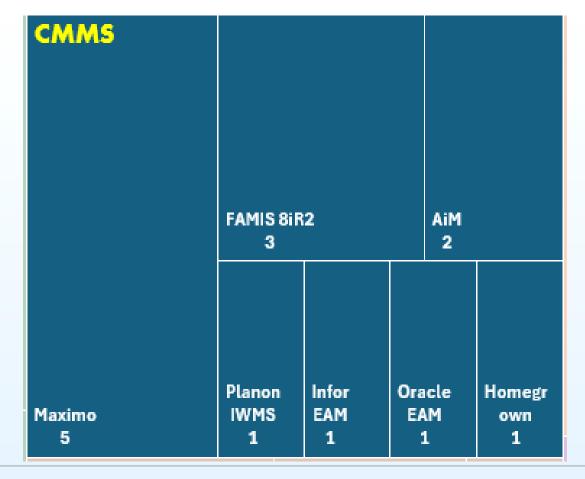

College Name	Ranking	Acceptance Rate	Total Undergraduate Enrollment
MIT	#2	4%	4,657
Stanford University	#3	4%	8,049
University of Chicago	#12	5%	7,470
Johns Hopkins University	#9 (Tie)	7%	6,044
Caltech	#7 (Tie)	3%	982

An Ivy Plus school is any university or college that is not Ivy League, consistently top ranking, and not a liberal arts school. They typically exist as well-known private institutions. Ultimately, the category includes non-lvy schools that offer Ivy-level education, making them great choices!

Duke University	#7 (Tie)	6%	6,640
Northwestern University	#9 (Tie)	7%	8,659
Vanderbilt University	#18	7%	7,151
Rice University	#17	9%	4,494
WashU in St. Louis	#24	11%	8,132
